Passenger, Says Captain

SHIP VERY NEAR MONTREAL

Wireless from Montreal Says That London Dentist Is Thoroughly Disguised and Is Accompanied by Miss Clara Leneve.

Montreal, Que., July 29.—A wireless message from Captain Kendall of the steamer Montrose to-day says that Dr. H. H. Crippen, thoroughly disguised and accompanied by Miss Clara Leneve, his typist, is aboard the vessel. The couple are unaware that they are suspected and they are allowed perfect liberty, although they are closely watched. The Montrose passengers are ignorant of the identity of the suspects.

Captain Kendall's message says: "I had my first suspicion after the Montrose was two days out from Antwerp. I watched the case closely and concluded that the man was Crippen. He looked as a merchant and the girl, disguised as his son, as a student. Crippen has been reading constantly and is very nervous and doesn't sleep well. Miss Leneve is gay at times and at others worried, and watches Crippen with fearful eyes. I read the case in the papers in England and saw pictures of both. There is no doubt as to their identity as Crippen and Leneve."

Some time this afternoon the pilot boat Eureka will draw alongside the White Star liner Laurentine and put a pilot over the side. The same boat will bring Inspector Dew ashore at Father Point, who will aid in the arrest of Crippen and Miss Leneve by the Canadian police, who are alert to prevent any efforts at escape or suicide. The Montrose will not delay at Father Point, but will continue to Quebec, where Crippen and Miss Leneve will be taken ashore at Gross Ile.

There, herded like immigrants, they will go through the immigration office and be taken to Quebec, where they will be formally arraigned before Judge Calhoun and remanded to jail. Then, as undesirable immigrants, they will be ordered deported. They will go in the custody of Inspector Dew, who, it is understood, has booked their return passage on the Royal George, which sails August 4.

Father Point, Que., July 29.—The captain of the steamship Montrose, nearing this port after a voyage across the Atlantic, flashed to the colonial government at Ottawa yesterday a wireless message, in which he said, according to apparently authoritative reports here, that he had incontrovertible evidence of Dr. Hawley Crippen's presence aboard.

It is the first wireless communication received from the Montrose on this side of the Atlantic, and it was guarded with great secrecy. Yet the reports here, which would not down, said that the skipper was sure of his man and asked for immediate action.

The handful of French Canadians that live about the lighthouse, the telegraph stations and the pilots' boardinghouses of Father Point are in a state of excitement, which passes the memory of the oldest inhabitants. At the old town of Rimouski, five miles up the river, the Crippen case is the only topic of conversation among 2,000 loggers, lumbermen and summer visitors.

The warrant charging Crippen with the murder of a woman still unknown is carried by Chief McCarthy of the provincial police of Quebec. Upon Inspector Dew, Chief McCarthy and his assistants rely to identify the suspected passenger of the Montrose, if he is really the man they seek. But, since Dew has no authority to make the arrest, it is supposed that he will continue on the Laurentine to Quebec, leaving to the Canadian detectives the task of taking their prisoner to him for identification there. His mission also, in addition to identifying, is to take Crippen back to England, in case he is arrested.

WAS BRAINED IN HIS CAB.

As Engineer Leaned from Window His Head Struck Signal Post.

New York, July 29.—Norman Crouse, 40 years old, a New York Central engineer living at Chatham, N. Y., was instantly killed yesterday when his head struck a signal post as he leaned out of his cab window from the southbound freight train, which his engine was hauling, approached the Williamsbridge station on the Harlem division. Crouse fell backward into the arms of his fireman, Phillips Mosher, who stopped the train and, after a consultation with the train crew, uncoupled the engine and made a record run to the Fordham station. Ambulance surgeons summoned there decided that Crouse's death had been instantaneous, the top of his head having been battered in by contact with the post.

RIVET EXECUTED
EARLY TODAYHis Single Request Before Going to the Chair for Killing Joseph J. Gallloux Was That He Be Given a Shave.

Boston, July 29.—Showing evidence of being deeply impressed religiously, Napoleon J. Rivet of Lowell walked to the death chair in the Charlestown state prison shortly after midnight this morning, paying the penalty with his life for the murder of Joseph J. Gallloux at Lowell on Feb. 29, 1908.

Rivet passed out the door of his cell room at 12:12 a. m. and one minute and forty seconds later, at 12:13:40, his life went out as the electrician threw over the lever which allowed the coursing of 1920 volts of electricity through the man's system.

Rivet was proceeded into the death chamber by the Rev. Augustine D. Malley, the prison chaplain, who, carrying his crucifix high in the air, prayed audibly in the French language while the man was being strapped in the chair. Rivet carried a small crucifix upon which he constantly kept his eyes, never once raising them. No one of the witnesses to the execution at any time saw the man's eyes. Just before the officers stepped away from the chair and before the face mask was adjusted, the priest placed his crucifix upon the lips of the doomed man, who kissed the cross.

The current was applied in the usual manner, the full duration being of about one minute and five seconds; eight seconds at 1920 volts at an amperage of 8 1/2 to 9, the full force, then diminishing to 250 volts for 22 seconds; five seconds full at 250 volts; 25 seconds diminishing, and five seconds full a third time.

The three legal witnesses, the physicians, at 12:21 declared the man legally dead.

Rivet wore a new white outing shirt and striped trousers, low shoes and gray socks to the chair, the left leg of the trousers being slit to allow of the adjustment of the electrode.

The man had prepared himself fully to meet his end, as no other one who has come to the chair at Charlestown has shown, that he realized fully that he was to meet his Maker. Around his neck were hung the sepulchra and a rosary, the latter carrying several medals. The crucifix he carried remained clutched in his right hand even after his body was carried from the chair.

There were present at the execution Warden B. F. Bridges, Rev. Augustine D. Malley, Medical Examiner of Suffolk County George B. Magrath, Surgeon General Dr. Charles C. Foster, Prison Physician Dr. Joseph L. McLaughlin, Sheriff of Middlesex County John R. Fairbank and William Carroll Hill of The Associated Press, besides nine prison officials.

Late last night, Rivet was asked if he had any final request to make, which it was within reason or the power of the warden to permit, would be allowed.

"I would like to have a clean shave before I go to the chair," was the sole request of the prisoner and the request was granted.

ONE LIFE SACRIFICED
IN BOATHOUSE FIREEdward Hurley Died at Meredith, N. H., Yesterday Afternoon When the Langley Boathouse Was Destroyed.

Meredith, N. H., July 29.—A fire which destroyed a building which has marred the beauties of Meredith bay for 20 years, but which caused a death, took place at 5 p. m. yesterday. The old Langley boathouse, which the authorities and citizens of Meredith have been trying to get rid of for years, and which the board of trade was trying to purchase, was destroyed. Steamers belonging to Capt. Langley and Joseph King were scorched, but got away, and two power boats and a number of row boats, in side and locked to the wharf, were saved.

Edward Hurley, aged 55, was the victim. He entered the burning building and during the excitement fell through a hole in the floor about six feet. He was carried out, as it was supposed, in an unconscious condition, but the doctor found him dead, and ascribed death as the result of heart failure, there being no apparent injuries.

Capt. Langley had just made repairs to the old building and intended, it is said, to live in it this summer.

Great difficulty was found in getting the boats away from the building. Capt. Langley's steamer was grounded and it took half an hour to move it, a stream of fire from the burning house keeping it from being moved. The boats were taken down in the vicinity and were being moved to the wharf, when a valuable steamer, also had a strenuous job in getting his boat out into deep water. Rev. J. H. Odell, who is in Sandown, N. H., this week, had a valuable power boat in the house, which was saved.

The nearby house of Herbert Pinkham was also burned out, and at least three other neighboring dwellings were reported on fire. It is believed that no lives were lost and that no one was badly injured.

THINK RAWN A SUICIDE.

Jury Unable to Decide, but Think Accident Theory "Less Probable."

Chicago, July 29.—That Ira G. Rawn, president of the Monon railway, killed himself is the verdict given out today by the jury, after hours of debate. The jurors were unable to determine whether death was violent or accidental, but they declared that the nature of the wound made the accident theory "less probable."

Y., July 29.—Although badly beaten for the congressional nomination from this district on the face of the primary returns to-day, Theodore Douglas Robinson, nephew of Theodore Roosevelt, says that he will go into the convention to-morrow and make a forlorn-hope fight for the nomination. Young Robinson controls twenty delegates in the convention. Congressman Charles T. Millington, who is finishing his first term in Congress, will undoubtedly be the choice of the convention. He is backed by Vice President Sherman.

He was seen to sway near the corner of Weybossett and Custom House streets by Superintendent of Police Patrick Egan, who was walking with him, and the superintendent caught him in his arms. He was urged to take a carriage for the remainder of the distance but, refused, and for the short distance to the boat was partly carried along by Superintendent Egan and three other officers.

GIVEN AFFECTIONATE FAREWELL.

Fr. P. J. Barrett Leaves Many Friends
In Burlington.

Burlington, July 29.—Not for many years, if ever, has this city witnessed such a demonstration as was accorded the Rev. P. J. Barrett, at the farewell reception, which was given to him in The Strong theatre last evening. The house was crowded from the gallery to the pit, and even the back seats of the house, with hundreds, who went to show their affection for one of the most popular clergymen who has ever labored in Burlington. The audience was not composed of his parishioners alone, but of men and women from every walk in life and from every church.

Upon the platform were seated about 50 leading citizens, with Father Barrett in the center. Mayor J. E. Burke presided and in the front row in addition to him, were Congressman D. J. Foster, Rev. C. J. Staples, C. P. Smith, the Rev. J. J. Kennedy, the newly appointed assistant at the cathedral, and J. F. Gillis, Father Barrett's successor. The others were W. R. Han Patten, Thomas M. J. Kelly, T. R. Wright and T. P. Daley.

One feature of the evening was the presentation of a purse of about $1,500 to Fr. Barrett by the people of Burlington and his parishioners, the speech of presentation being made by John R. Kelley.

In replying, Father Barrett was too much overcome to make a speech but thanked the people with a few broken words. He praised the parish for its never failing aid to him and said that he could never forget them. A man must have a heart of stone who could witness such tokens of affection without being moved. He hoped that the same support would be accorded Father Gillis, who had labored beside him and been his aid for 13 years of his administration. He also addressed the people outside of his parish, who had shown kind hearts and always been good to him. He said that the Catholic church would not be the great institution that it was, were it not for the one great factor, unflinching obedience.

The ladies of St. Anne's society received Father Barrett in St. Mary's hall at four o'clock yesterday afternoon and presented him a testimonial of esteem, consisting of a complete table set of linen, cut glass and solid silver, and also a dinner carrying set. A set of resolutions, framed in gold, was also presented. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Charles Rand, secretary of the society. Father Barrett spoke in turn and broke down many times, overcome by his emotions, as he expressed his gratitude to the society and bade farewell to his friends. The society of St. Anne was founded by Father Barrett 12 years ago, and since then he has officiated as its promoter and moderator.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Mary's cathedral met Father Barrett last evening at 7 o'clock in St. Mary's hall, where Miss Anna Wilson, president of the sodality, presented him a purse of $10 as a token of the high esteem in which he is held by every member of that organization. Father Barrett responded with a speech of gratitude for the gift and bade farewell to the members.

MARRIED MID-LAKE.

Romantic Wedding on Steam Chateau-gay on Lake Champlain.

Burlington, July 29.—Something new in wedding place took place yesterday at high noon on the broad expanse of Lake Champlain. The principals were Frederick E. Rowley of Rutland and Miss Jane Ann Estelle of Whitehall, and the scene of the ceremony was Capt. E. R. Rockwell's office on the Chateaugay. The Episcopal service was read by Rev. Herbert Martin of Whitehall performed the ceremony. The witnesses were Mrs. Martin and Col. L. H. Carrington, an uncle of the bride. Captain Rockwell was also present.

The couple notified the captain soon after they got on board that they would like to be married on the boat and that a clergyman was present. The captain consented and when opposite Barber's point the boat was steered some distance out of her course so that the ceremony would be performed on the New York side, as the license was granted there.

The 700 hundred excursionists on the boat were not told what had taken place until the ceremony was over. Then, when a dress suit case and several trunks were taken off the boat, some one said that the suit case belonged to the newly married young lady, but by that time they were half way up the hill and it was too late for the practical jokers to get in their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowley spent last night in the city and went to-day to Montreal for a few days' stay. They will later go to Rutland, where they will make their home.

DROWNED IN LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

Max Bronck Fell Off Dock Late Wednesday Night.

Burlington, July 29.—Max Bronck, an employee of Edward Hatch, met death by drowning Wednesday night in falling off a dock at Mr. Hatch's summer place at Wildboro Point. Mr. Bronck, with Charles Horton, another employee of Mr. Hatch, moored their launch, in which they had just returned from a trip to Burlington, at the dock about eleven o'clock and started for home. It was very dark and the two men made a great deal of difficulty in picking their way over the pier, the effort being the more dangerous because of the numerous rocks over which the pair were obliged to crawl. They proceeded carefully along, hand in hand, until Mr. Horton suggested that they might make better progress if they should separate. They did so and a few minutes later Bronck tripped on a stone and fell into the water. Horton ran to his aid and reached down in the darkness, at the same time shouting for his companion to take hold of his hand. Bronck, however, did not respond and, after an unsuccessful search, the other man ran for aid.

The body was not recovered until yesterday morning, when it was found lying besides the dock in about 12 feet of water. Mr. Bronck leaves a wife and two children.

BENNINGTON REPUBLICANS

Nominated County Ticket at Convention Yesterday.

Bennington, July 29.—The Republican county convention here yesterday went on record as opposing any change in the present liquor license law. J. K. Batchelder of Arlington, presided and W. H. Roberts of Manchester was clerk. The following ticket was nominated:

Senators, Frank C. Archibald of Manchester, and Henry T. Cushman of North Bennington.

Assistant Judges, Charles B. Kent of Dorset, and Dr. Crosby A. Perry of Readsboro.

Sheriff, Frederick Godfrey of Bennington.

State's attorney, W. J. Meagher of Bennington.

High bailiff, Leroy Woodard of Landgrove.

Judges of probate, Manchester district, Edward Griffith of Dorset; Bennington district, Edward C. Bennett of Bennington.

The resolutions adopted affirm allegiance to the principles of the Republican party and approve the platform adopted at Montpelier, June 30, except that plank relating to the liquor law. The electoral candidates are nominated and endorsed with the understanding that they support the platform with the exception of this subject.

The resolution says, "We congratulate the Republican party of Vermont on success of the local option law. We do not claim that it is perfect but its operation has justified its enactment and retention. The state of Vermont has more important work for the legislature next fall than tinkering over any change in the liquor law and we instruct our candidates to Senate, if elected, to oppose any and every attempt to secure a referendum having for its object the further agitation of the prohibitory system."

RUTLAND EAGLES WON

Prize for Going Longest Distance to New England Convention.

Providence, R. I., July 29.—The Eagles of New Bedford, Mass., won the prize yesterday for the seventh annual field day of the organization.

The celebration was preceded by a parade yesterday forenoon, when about 8,000 men in uniforms and costumes of all hues and styles marched through the city and were reviewed by the governor and mayor. Prominent among the marchers was a squad of twenty-five well drilled members of the police force of New Haven, composing the degree team of the New Haven acie, while Worcester, Mass., was represented by nearly 800 men.

Following the parade a shore dinner and field sports were held at a local resort.

Prizes were offered to stimulate interest in the parade and these were won by the East Providence acie for displaying the best float, with Pavekiet acie 706, second; by the New Haven, Conn., acie for the best costumes, by Lawrence, Mass., the acie having the largest number in line, and the prize for the acie coming the longest distance was won by Rutland, Vt.

It was announced yesterday that the Worcester, Mass., acie captured the prize for the best drilled degree team, at the degree week Wednesday night, with Hyde Park, Mass., second.

sessed $1,000, May Appeal.

Windsor, July 29.—The jury in the case of United States vs. the Montpelier & Wells River R. R. Co. brought in a verdict of guilty of making discrimination in freight rates over its line and was fined $1,000 by Judge James L. Martin in United States district court. A stay of execution for 90 days was granted by the corporation, during which time it may make an appeal. The case arose under section 10 of the interstate commerce act and was worked up by special agent Charles N. Brady of the commission, Washington, D. C., formerly of Newport, Vt.

It was announced yesterday that the Worcester, Mass., acie captured the prize for the best drilled degree team, at the degree week Wednesday night, with Hyde Park, Mass., second.

YEAR FOR "WHITE SLAVER."

Napoleon St. Lawrence Goes to Rhode Island Work House.

Providence, R. I., July 29.—Following the revelations of Mrs. Eleanor Brooks, aged 19, that she had been used as a "white slave," Napoleon St. Lawrence, aged 24, was sentenced to a year in the state work house in the sixth district court yesterday. The girl said that she had been an inmate of the Lancaster school at Lancaster, Mass., and that since April she has been with St. Lawrence. She said that he took from her the money she obtained and when she failed to get any he beat and abused her. She will be sent back to Lancaster.

CONFIDENT OF STRIKE.

New York Labor Leader Says Railroad Men May Get Aid.

Burlington, July 29.—Alexander W. Keagy of New York, deputy president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, visited this city yesterday and held a conference with the local strikers. He was confident of ultimate victory for the trainmen and said that the outlook had not been brighter since the strike was inaugurated. He derided the claims of the railroad people when they say that their passenger and freight trains are moving according to schedule. He said that the trains were more apologies for trains and that there was hardly any freight moved and very little passenger business done.

Mr. Keagy could not give any information in regard to whether or not the engines on the road would go out in a sympathetic strike, but was confident that important developments would take place in a few days, as there was a strong probability that union men on other roads would take some action, probably such as refusing to handle freight moved by non-union men. A number of trains, both freight and passenger, moved in and out of the city yesterday but the business appeared to be light.

WOMAN'S STRANGE ACCIDENT.

Lone Middlebury Dweller's Hands Caught Between Sash and Screen.

Middlebury, July 29.—While closing a window during the thunder storm Wednesday night, Miss Emma Wilcox, who lives alone, was held a prisoner for two hours, both hands being caught between the sash and screen. Her screams at last attracted the attention of John Bosley who was passing, and he secured a ladder and went to the woman's rescue. It was necessary to remove the sash before Miss Wilcox could be released.

The woman lost three finger nails from the right hand and two from the left, the nails being torn off, and it is also feared that it will be necessary to amputate a part of the middle finger of the right hand.

HELD IN $1,000 BAIL.

Burlington Man Charged With "Throwing Hard Substance at Train."

Burlington, July 29.—Throwing a hard substance at a moving passenger train doesn't sound like very much of a crime, but just the same Henry Muir is held in $1,000 bail for the September term of county court for that offense. It is alleged that on July 26, Muir threw a lot of tin cans, bricks and other junk on the track.

Some of the testimony was taken yesterday in city court and Muir was identified as the man who tried to do the damage. He is technically charged with throwing a hard substance at the train, and bail was fixed in the amount of $1,000. In default of bail, he has been placed in the Chittenden county jail.

The city appropriated the sum of $45,000 for the reservoir. The total cost will exceed that sum a little on account of the gravel bed found when the work was started, which added much to the expense.

BERLIN POND BATHS COSTLY.

Two Young Men Fined $10 Each—Strict Watch Being Kept.

The cases of Ruri Winslow and Robert Crandall, arrested a few days ago for bathing in Berlin pond, were tried yesterday in Montpelier city court, and each was fined $10. There were girls in the bathing party also, but they were not arrested, though their names were given to the court and arrests will follow if the act is repeated. Hiram Wedge, the caretaker at the pond, was the principal witness. It was July 8 when he found the party in bathing, and the arrests followed soon after, since which time no bathing has been done in the pond to the knowledge of the officers. It is intended to put a stop to it in some way.

The testimony used in the Kimball case was introduced as applicable to this case, as well as evidence as to the county court for final settlement. All who wish to run the chance of bathing in the pond will have to pay the $10 fine, if caught. State's Attorney Gates represented the state and R. A. Hoar of Barre the bathers.
